Edward D. Waite

Holidays 1889
Aug 11th to Aug 29th -
Ireland

Read on the right pages only & when at end of book read left pages backwards.

The Matter of the left pages at some part of book are generally descriptions of the people, Manners, &c. Country

Aug 17 Left Leeds at 11-0 & arrived at Manchester about 12:50 here I was met by Aunt + Raymond. Had some dinner at "Coras" Vegetarian Restaurant Then Raymond & I took the Rusholme train along Market St, and Oxford St to Owen's College. Mr Hoyle was out but would return soon so I left my Card with the Porter on the strength of which he let me in into parts of the Museum not yet open to the public -

I noticed the fossil tree which I had photos at Clayton it is beautifully mounted & also the lee-scratched boulder in the quadrangle -

The Museum is quite new the Geological Section being the only one at all complete ~~Returned to the Station~~ In a short while Mr Hoyle came in, but as it was nearly time for us to go we had not long with him - returned to the Station I met Father about 3-0

& then had some tea & departed at 3-45 On Chat Moss I noticed the ground for a very long way was covered with tansy & plovers unnumbered were running about the moss. Went through Chester & saw Hawarden Castle. At Chester there left the train two Fusiliers in charge of a deserter but we afterwards saw them at Holyhead & Father gave me of them some pieces. They had caught their man at Hull.
Passed Rhyl & then

(a very quiet place) on to Bangor where we arrived at 7.25
went out into the town & down to the water & then back to the station. The train
at 9.25 being $\frac{1}{2}$ hour late passed thro' the 2 tubular bridges over the Conway & the straits arrived at Holyhead at 10.30 left our luggage in the cabin of the Violet & then
town & returned about 12.0. The boat was timed to start at 2.0 18. Shortly before that time Prof Birch came into the Cabin with his wife & I spent some time with him during the passage - at 2 we left Holyhead we had a nice breeze & a moderately fine night & arrived at Dublin at 7-0 - As we neared Dublin I noticed Kittiwakes

Common Gulls Gullinots Herring Gulls. Saw in crossing - Bray Head Wicklow Mts Ireland's Eye Howth. On arriving at Dublin
we made our way to Jurys Hotel in College Green & had breakfast - We then walked on to Phoenix Park - The morning was very wet we had occasionally to make our way to a clump of trees for shelter & sometimes to remain there for a considerable while - At 12:00 the Zoological Gardens

would open (being Sunday) so we "potted" about the Park in the rain until the rain until that time when we entered the Zoo 2nd each on Sundays
The most noteworthy

Things I saw were Aix spina, Moose aquarium etc, we left the Zoo at 2.30 & had a turn thro' the gardens they are most beautifully laid out. The Park is the largest in Europe & no money has been spared on it. The Coots Pochards Pelicans & on the waters are very tame. We saw the place where Lord Fredk Cavendish & Mr Burke were murdered - the place where the former died (a few yards from where he was struck) is marked only by a cross drawn with a stick on the soil where the turf has been removed that of the latter by a dozen road pebbles laid together in the form of a cross - the Irish people would not stand any more lasting form of memorial. Members of the R I C showed us the form on wh-Carey sat to watch the victims & the beech tree where he took up his position to strike the blow & also the road along which the murdered went by car after the deed! a member of the Dublin police pointed out to us the nice regal lodge - the lodge leading to the Chief Secretary's residence where Lord Fred^k was going & also the residence of the permanent Secretary.

The Wellington Monument was pointed out to us (£50,000) & which O'Connell referred to as the overgrown milestone

After dinner we took the train to Merion Square & visited the Art Museum. I was struck by the general arrangement of it (so far as I can remember) it being identical with either the one at Antwerp or Bruxelles. At 5.0 the bell rung us out & we walked back to Jarrys where we had tea. Neither of us had had any sleep last night & walking all the time compounded with our walking today me

were naturally rather sleepy & so went to bed about 8-30 I having first written something toward an epistle to Headingley I taken off the bed so that I ~~have~~ might have something substantial to sleep upon - after a Capilde night rest we both got up about 6.30 Dublin time & went out in the direction of Glasmere in intending to go to the Cemetery When we got on some distance we enquired the way & were directed to follow the tram lines which we accordingly did to their termination & then walked on supposing that the Cemetery could not be far away but as we seemed to be a long while in reaching it we made another enquiry and found that we had passed it by a Mile & a quarter. That we had gone almost thru Glasnevin we retraced our steps & ~~where~~ then directed to a short cut & in time reached the Cemetery the most striking object is a tower

perhaps 100 feet in height built like a lighthouse and erected to the memory of O'Connell the pillar bearing his name simply it is surrounded by walks which open from an area surrounding the monument. We visited the Column raised to the memory of Mr Burke murdered in Phoenix ^{Park} 6th May 82 - walked to it & took the train to Nelson's Monument
& walked to Jurys

arriving at 9-30 *
had breakfast. wrote up proceedings & went to the Museum of Science & Art & gave my card to Scharff who took me round. Noted Skeleton of Solitaire made up perfectly of odd bones The collection of Irish Birds is large & fine but the species are much less numerous than in a collection of English Birds. They are commencing to arrange series of birds after Dr. Hensington Model Scharff complains of the smallness of the staff & disinterestedness of the members in their work. There is a very large skeleton of the

Backed whale - Cast of Megatherium skeleton
at 12-0 went to Jumps & packed up our traps paid our bill, & took a Cab for Broadstone Station. Father got out on the way at a printers but got in again without buying anything Very ordinary plums were 4^d per dozen some rather smaller than Victorias 9^d per dozen - Victor is 1/2 each - Small grapes (very poor) 2/6 per lb he did not enquire further. departed from Broadstone for Mullingar at 1-0 On the way I noticed a R.I.C. at every station in full dress which is strikingly like the Irish Rifles they carry the sword bayonet. I suppose I shall be stopped by them at Mullingar there are 40 within the Vice Regal Lodge ground at Dublin besides 30 soldiers Dublin seems to be simply alone with Police & Military there are the Metropolitan Police & the R I C all fine big fellows & 7 or 8 regiments of soldiers. R H A. Hancock 2 or 3 Scotch regts. etc.

The rain has simply poured down all day up to now (in the train at "Hill of Down 35 3/4 miles from Dublin at 2:43-7) we have passed the familiar station of the name of Enfield. I am told that the railways in Ireland are very expensive there being no

Competition fortunately for me the Parcel Post will be the same as in England so that the people will not be able to cry another injustice to Old Ireland.

Arrived at Mullingar the Capital of Co West Meath. Leaving our traps at the Station & we down the town in the rain. which seemed if possible to have increased in volume Called at the Greville Arms & made a few enquiries resulting in the information that that Mullingar Com-

tans nothing of any importance. Considering that to see what was to be seen would be wise we ventured out Fall pipes seem to be scarce & where they exist the water simply overflows the Causeway there being no channel. Noted the cottages dirty enough & full of Syphilis children & ragged fowls. The Royal Canal wh we saw at Dublin returned to the G Arms & had tea and Chops - such Chops I shall never forget Mullingar. Rain and Chops - Chops & mokes

long 45 wide none o' your fancy restaurant things but real down solid chops. & bread with a crust so hard that I couldn't get the knife into it & asked the waiter to do it for me he was used to the job & inserted the point of the knife into a weak place & worked outwards When we arrived at Mullingar 3 R.I. Police met the train I held up the gun & said to one I suppose you want to see me. "No. I don't Sir".
He returned to the station which is marked at 50 $\frac{1}{4}$ miles from Dublin (all the stations are so marked in distances from the capital) & at 6.10 departed for Galway hanging up our trunks from the racks to dry.

Just after leaving the station, we saw West meath Lake on our left Got out at Athlone for a 10 minutes stretch and at Ballinasloe a real old Irish gentleman got in who kept us alive.
In the journey from Dublin to Galway I had a somewhat severe attack of toothache. Arrived at Galway at 9.15 & went to bed.

20 Got up early and penned my letter to Headingley - went down to the Bay & shot a Fr Herring Gull? had breakfast & again went out but got nothing more took the body out of the gull & despatched the bird
by O'Brien's Car at 12.0 & after a ride of 49 miles arrived at Clifden at 7.40. Stayed at Hotel Mullarky. This day was quite as fine as yest was wet. My face was swollen from my jaw to my eye but was not quite so painful In consequence of this toothache I was not in a very good position to enjoy the scenery and the ride to me was rather dreary. I never saw fewer birds any where these being a few crows a Magpie a few Chaffinches where there are houses but no sparrows. Many dilapidated houses & the people very poor.

21 Raining fast this morning left by ^{car} at 9x for a 47 mile drive Saw a polecat running along a wall. It was fine until we reached Letter track where it rained cats + dogs until we got to Lemaave here we had to stay + had dinner + changed cars passed close to the scene of the Maamtrasna murder.

I arrived at Westport at 6.0. Went up to the Bay + round the town called at the Ulster Bank but Mr Stuart was not in 22. Again called on Mr Stuart + arranged to meet him at 3.30. I find that Westport does not possess a barber - but one of two co-passengers from Oxford

Who had travelled with us from Galway lent me his razor & visited the Church together & then went on to the Bay had lunch and Father & I went to the Market (Market day) & Post Office I found a letter awaiting me from Rose & Father had one from Mrs W. We returned to the Hotel & replied to them & then kept our appointment with Mr Stuart he showed us round his house and ~~car~~ drove us to his Cottage on the beach 3 1/2 miles here we had some tea & went out with our guns I shot a Redhawk but it fell into the water too far away for the dog - saw several ~~herons~~ & one alighted 100 yards from us I lent Mr.

Stewart my gun and put in a wire case but he did not allow for wind which was very strong saw large flocks of curlews and many gulls. He then drove us back to the Railway Hotel & we went to bed.

23 left Westport at 8.50 by train for

Ballina Changing
carriages at Manilla arrived at Ballina about 10.30. Put up at the Moy Hotel. I took went to the Medical Hall & asked them about my face & they gave me the address of the Dr. for whom I at once made he lanced the abscess & removed a considerable amount of matter and charged me 5/- he also gave me a prescription which I got made up at the Hall - Went down to the river crossed the Bridge & to the Salmon Leaps - there were a lot of Red Wagtails about so I went back for the stick gun & shot 4 greatly to the edification of some of the bystanders we circumnavigated the town. Father buying a shawl to act as a rug & had lunch at the hotel & at 2.50 left ~~Baldina~~ by car for Shigo Saw 2 ~~Herons~~ one of which I could have shot from the car saw several Magpies. The country is much better here drier, & consequently more productive a R.I.C. who travelled with us was going home for his annual month's leave and being rather

"jolly" wanted to show his good nature by treating every one on the car. The weather had been very fine up to within 3 miles of Shigo but there the rain came down as appears to be the thing here in torrents
we arrived at 8.30 +
put up at the Victoria a very good hotel. My face is very much better the swelling generally having subsided 24 got up at 7.0 a fine morning. The lower part of my face is better but the swelling around the eye has nearly reached its former size Went down to the Quay before breakfast & after breakfast went down with the gun & shot a gull which fell in the water so I lost it saw 4 cormorants on the stakes which mark the harbour way & 2 Herons - On nearing the town side of the Quay I shot other 2 gulls & then went for a boat to get them we picked them up & I brought down 2 more at one shot

we then saw a gentle man waving to us from shore. When we got up he said he would be pleased to place his boat at our disposal it had a sail, we accepted his offer & with a couple of boys went off again we landed on the opposite side & I was going after a flock of plovers when 20 Curlews whirred 30 yards ahead from an adjoining field I got one we then tried at a Cormorant but they are too wary I let drive at one at 100 yards with a wire case but it took no effect I got in all 7 gulls + 1 Curlew + 1 ~~Meadow~~^{Rock} pupit. returned + caught the 3.45 train for Ennis-where we intended to make our next stay but this being Saturday & finding that we could not go further until Monday we decided to go forward. had to change at Enniskillen had some refreshment & then went on to Derry where we arrived at 9.5 + had a car to the Imperial. Saw one of the Iwans at Inns

- Killen - My face is decidedly better. Had some tea at the Imperial
town which is a large place saw the Gael An-
- nyhear is at present in it

25 Had breakfast & went down to the Quay & 1 1/2 miles down the river Saw several Herons & gulls also a flock of Curlews went back to the hotel & walked partly round the city walls & went over the bridge 430 feet in length to enquire at the

Went round the remaining walls

Station the train for Portrush I found that one went at 2.30
hurried to the hotel packed up my birds in a box I got from boots & left in a car - On arriving at the station I looked the box for seeds. The ride along Lough Fyle was grand close to the sea all the way past Coleraine Castle rock &c & arrived at Portrush at 4.30 went over the road to the Eglington hotel they had not beds for us but took us to a private house

No 5

Where we had a comfortable bedroom, had tea & went down to the west beach & then to the East & round the promontary - a fine sea on breaking on the rocks. full Atlantic swell - went into the smoking room of the hotel laid out schemes for tomorrow & departed to our sleeping rooms

26 Went out before breakfast to the East Bay & shot a Ring Plover & saw a Cormorant flying to the left followed it and got a shot at it as it was in the water it was hit and dived when it reappeared I got another shot and killed it. it seemed to be floating into the Bay but was not 10 yards from the rock a fisherman would get it for me for 2/- but I thought I would wait for it it gradually drifted in but very slowly so we went to breakfast & returned to find it gone Went to the Bay again & shot a sanderling & a rock pipit & walked up to the cliffs and back about 6 miles in all - took the train at 2.0 for the Grants Causeway. I went to the Causeway Hotel & then to the Dry Land Cave I shot a Hooded Crow we then went on to the Causeway & a photographer prevailed upon Father to have our photos taken. he would take a Negative for 2/- 1/2 plate I did not care for the first so he took another Saw several Cormorants & H Crows - The Manager of the Hotel appears to be an enthusiastic shooter or fowler as they are called in Ireland. he took me out after tea but we came on immediately as did also the rain spent the evening in the coffee room with 2 gentlemen who knew a good deal about Nat Hist one of whom had travelled a good bit. Dr C Digby

turned in about 11-8 having previously written but not posted a letter to Rose 27 got up early & left the Causeway Hotel at 8 30 by ~~Car~~ for Larne a distance of 56 miles called on the way to see Carrickahedl bridge Arrived at Larne after a long ride at here I posted my letter but upon inquiry found none waiting for us we took train at for Belfast while travelling on the car we struck an acquaintance with a Mr Collins B. Hubbard on arriving at Belfast

at we took car together to the Imperial but found them full up then across the road to the Royal here they had 1 large & 1 small bed in one room - this was all they could do for us so we elected to stay - had tea & then a walk thro' the town the Royal is exactly opposite Robinsons & Cleavers 28 Our American friend of Detroit Michigan left us for Dublin - and we visited the Museum of the Belfast Nat Hist & Phil Soc: it is a very poor place & shockingly kept if kept at all our next place was the Queen's College Museum to previous page

A small but very decent museum for the use of the College free to the public - we next visited the docks & saw the Fleetwood boat. The Duke of Connaught - large numbers of gulls were flying in the harbour but as we could not shoot them there we inquired the best place where told Hollywood we went back into the City had dinner at the Castle Restaurant we returned to the Quay crossed the river by the bridge took County Down Railway at 3.5 to

Hollywood $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles here I could do nothing the tide was low & a long stretch of mud between us & the water at the edge of which the gulls were feeding not a single bird came within shot. We left here by train at
crossed by the ferry & made for the Post Office.
No letters for us - This morning before going out I had partly written a letter to Rose but did not post it another mail in from Larne at 8.0 - returned to the Royal

wrote up the diary After tea we went to the Post Office with a nil result. Bought a guide to Belfast & went into the Smoke room until 9-0 when we turned in 29 Did not get up until 9-0 & after breakfast called at Cook's & bought Cook's guide to Londonderry & made sundry purchases I bought a work basket at the Blind Institute for Rose 8/6. We had dinner & some fish hooks & tried to catch some gulls from the boat. Prince of Wales but were not successful. Several of the memoirs have [88]

The birds took the bait but threw it out as soon as they felt the line - Spent most of the afternoon on the boat & about the docks. Weighed 10 st exactly, on one of Pooleys Scales.
Had tea on Board & weighed Anchor at 8-20 - Irish time - English time after this - passed the Flasher Down Light at 9-30 the Mull of Galloway at 10.30 passed the Barrow Boat showing her port light, and the point of Ayr

at 1-0. The night was foggy when we started. We steamed very slowly out of the Dough but the night became fine as we proceeded and the stars became visible.
The water was very smooth - the light at the point of Ayr is flashing Red and White alternately. The Assistant Engineer
took us down to the Engines there are 4 Cylinders working 2 cranks. & 4 Boilers
The Prince of Wales is the finest and largest boat of the L & N W Ry Co

and was built in 1886 last night we visited the boat then to start the Duke of Connaught. The Prince of Wales is fitted with steam steering apparatus & is lighted throughout with Electricity - there is no log used but the distance is calculated by the number of revolutions which are registered by means of Harman recorder - passed the light of Ramsay about 1.30

✓ soon after the Laxey lights Saw Snagell in the Isle of Man - The fog settled again on the water & although I had seen gulls for some time we did not sight any light until 5.0 we landed shortly after had breakfast on board & left the boat at 5.45 took the L & Y train for Manchester at 6.25
arriving at 8.30 here we found the Connection train for Leeds had
late. Father rowed up the Railway Authorities & we took the next train 9-25 for Leeds

10.40 - train. The train to Headingley - and so concluded our holidays for 1889.

money for they must have sugar & bread
too. offer an Irishman tea & potatoes & you will not do it again.

Marriages in Ireland are mere money making concerns. the father of the wife paying the 7 of the husband so much for taking his daughter off his hands & the matches are arranged not by the persons who ought to be most interested but by their parents

by buying a few Calves & turning them on to the hills they scarcely see them for 2 years when they are looked up & sold at a good profit.
The introduction of reaping machines has ruined the Irish labourers as in former times they went over to England in shoals & made sufficient money by their Sythes to last them all the year tea also appears to have an evil effect as having once had it they will have it if possible - this costs of working up the native brood - Most of the pigs are black & white - (prebald)

large numbers of goats are kept. Saw some donkeys which appear to be the general beast of burden eating and apparently enjoying thistles. Houses in the poorer districts thatched with hay & bound down with ropes weighted with stones. Most of the dwellings are in the face of a hill & are not apparent.
The way the people manage to live is

As we travelled further north the land became better & the people less Squalid. - birds were more numerous, and the children ceased to follow our cars -

A land agent with whom we travelled from Slego said that the arrears act had partly ruined the country because it was an incentive to hard working honest men to let their rents run into arrears.

A Bradford firm is establishing a woollen mill in the Westport district for the purpose

While we were on the water it rained for about 5 minutes - Saw 2 ^{Norons} Cranes but shallows prevented us from getting near enough to the shore.

The Country this side of Nesport is decidedly better than what we had before passed thro' I never saw such poor land as in the Commemara districts it is almost all bog & scarcely a blade of grass to be seen

Common inscriptions on the reverse side of the tombstones. are such as -

James Mc Cullan's

Of good kind charity

R. I. P.

Speak in whis per if you stop they stop too & are silent they all speak Celtic in the West though most but by no means all speak English too -

When passing down
the Ardrum Coast
we stopped at Bally Castle - Cuskerdall
Glenamur & Larne & saw the Mull of Galloway & the Isle of Islay & of course

The Limestone here is extensively quarried allowing the Cars to pass within 10 yards of them. The bread in the West is run stuff & the ham they serve is all bacon & of very indifferent quality

too. The people follow the gun as though they had never seen one but once before & the boys are very eager to point out game to you & to pick it up when shot.
There may be a small crowd following you but when they are near they all

The people in Comuna appear to be wretchedly poor. None of the Children bear any covering for the feet.
The girls are splendid runners they will follow the Cars for 3 or 4 ~~fe~~ miles and seldom get anything their clothing also is of the scantiest description.
One child had the remains of a dress made of sackcloth across which was printed "Patent Roller flour". The birds + especially the Crows are very tame

you. you are right

any ordinary one to know what I meant probably never having

As soon as we arrived at Dublin I was stopped by a young fellow in plain clothes with "your gun licensed" Sir! Customs!
On producing it I said this is not a proclaimed district is it. Yes Sir So I showed him my permit. All right

The Mail cars & those corresponding to our Waggonettes are vile. Some time ago the L & N W Ry Co negotiated to buy
